THE WEEKS WORK AT THE CAPITAL

BUSINESS IS BEING PUSHED AT MADISON.

The Committees Are Expediting Matters and A Short Session Will Be the Result—Cigarette Bill Met With No Opposition—Whitehead Favored Pardon Board.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 20—[Special]—The slaughter of bills continues in the legislature, and the calendars every day contain a much larger number for indefinite postponement than for passage. Probably not more than 25 per cent. of those introduced will become laws. In fact, many members introduce bills with the intention of having them killed. They do it to satisfy some of their constituents, who are much more easily placated over the death of some measure which they want made a law if the member can lay the responsibility on some one else for its death than if he should refuse to introduce it.

Short Session Likely.

The present legislature is doing more work than its predecessors have been in the habit of doing so early in the session, and there is every present indication that a short session will be the result. Evening sessions have already become a regular thing where as in the past they have not been held until the last week or two of the session. Not a great deal of work is done at these sessions, but the committees are given opportunity to report on bills which are thus gotten onto the calendars a day sooner than than could otherwise be done. And the committees are putting more energy into their work and disposing of bills more rapidly. And instance of this the past week was the disposal of the bill requiring the licensing of stationary engineers.

Insurance Code Plan.

This is one of the regulars which bobs up at every session, and has usually taken up a large amount of time, only to be killed in the end. This week the committee which had the bill in charge gave it a hearing, at which advocates and opponents of the bill had their say, and then the bill was next day reported for indefinite postponement and promptly killed.

Commissioner Fricke's revision of the insurance code continues to attract a good deal of attention and opposition. The fight of the fraternal organizations continues unabated, and the township companies will be heard when their turn comes. The flexible premium companies are satisfied with the bill with some slight modifications, which are agreed upon, but there are other features which will have to be modified materially before it becomes a law.

Cigarette Bill a Good One

One of the good bills passed during the week was that introduced by Senator Whitehead to prevent the sale of cigarettes or cigarette paper to minors. It went through the senate without a word of opposition and only one vote in the negative, and it is believed the assembly will also pass it and the governor affix his signature. There are other and more radical bills on the same subject, one of which prohibits absolutely the sale of cigarettes in the state, but the passage of the Whitehead bill means that they will be laid on the shelf.

The Constitutional Amendment.

The senate joint resolution for a constitutional amendment providing for a board of pardons which shall take the pardoning power out of the governor's hands met with unexpected opposition from Senators Austin, Dennett and others, who contended that it was better to place the responsibility on one man than in a board where it could be shifted from one to another. Senator Whitehead was one of those who argued earnestly in support of the measure, and it passed the senate 19 to 10.

A State Fair Association.

The assembly gave the State Agricultural society another breathing spell Friday when it postponed action on the bill to appropriate $8,000 to the society to pay off its pressing debts, until Wednesday. The committee had reported the bill for indefinite postponement and the motion to lay it over was only carried by a vote of 40 to 38 The death of the bill probably means a similar fate for the society, as it is in a bad way financially, even with this relief, the state officials having taken steps to foreclose the mortgages which the state holds on the grounds, on which no interest has has been paid. Secretary Fleming is working hard to save the bill and put off the foreclosure proceedings, but ex-Secretary True is working the other way, and seems more likely to win.

Real Bone from St. Patrick's Arm.

Montreal, Que., Feb. 20.—There has arrived here from Rome a statue of St. Patrick, the right arm of which is said to contain the real bone of the right arm of the patron saint of Ireland. It has been sent by order of the pope to add eclat to the golden jubilee of St. Patrick's parish here., which takes place this year.

CABINET IS COMPLETE.

President-Elect McKinley's Official Advisers All Chosen.

Washington, Feb. 20.—President-elect McKinley's Cabinet is now complete. With the acceptance of the postmaster generalship by Mr. Gary of Maryland and of the secretaryship of the interior by Colonel J. J. McCook of New York the Cabinet-building task of the President-elect is finished.

One of Major McKinley's friends, who has just returned from Canton, brings with him the following authentic list of the McKinley Cabinet as it has been finally decided upon:

Secretary of State—John Sherman of Ohio.

Secretary of the Treasury—Lyman J. Gage of Illinois.

Secretary of War—Russell A. Alger of Michigan.

Secretary of the Navy—John D. Long of Massachusetts.

Attorney-General—Joseph McKenna of California.

Secretary of the Interior—J. J. McCook of New York.

Postmaster-General—James A. Gary of Maryland.

Secretary of Agriculture—James Wilson of Iowa.

BARTLEY'S BAD LOANS.

Nebraska Bears the Burden—Strict Inquiry Will Be Made.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 20.—Excitement continues quite intense here over the developments in the shortage in the treasury department and with the retiring auditor. A strict and thorough investigation of the whole treasury situation will undoubtedly be authorized when the house takes final action.

Ex-Treasurer Bartley states that he holds certificates of deposit showing the location of every dollar of the money due the state. He admits that the money cannot be drawn on the certificates without endangering the existence of some of the banks, but asserts that the money can be withdrawn gradually with entire safety to the banks and without loss of a dollar to the state.

FIVE FATALLY HURT.

Polish Residents of Cleveland, O., Killed in an Explosion.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 20.—The family of Jacob Ciclez of 663 Canal street was almost completely wiped out of existence Friday by a holocaust of flames. Eight persons were burned and five will probably die. Jacob and Mary Ciclez, husband and wife, were fatally burned, and their four children, who are all under six years of age, received severe burns. Albert Jerno and Joseph Jerga, boarders, were also badly burned.

Ciclez rose about 5 o'clock to light the fire and mistook the gasoline lamp for the kerosene lamp. The result was a terrific explosion when he applied the match. The greatest difficulty was experienced in getting the family out of bed and into the yard. All are now at the general hospital. The father and mother and three of the children are dying.

SAYS TREATY IS A TRAP.

Gov. Jones of Arkansas Opposes the Arbitration Agreement.

Little Rock, Ark., Feb. 20.—Gov. Dan Jones received the following telegram Friday from the national arbitration committee at New York city: "My Dear Sir: May we quote you as standing with ourselves in favor of the ratification of the arbitration treaty without amendment?"

Gov. Jones replied as follows: "I am not in favor of the ratification of this treaty, either with or without amendment. In my judgment, it is a trap for the United States, into which we should never be led with my consent."

Mothers' Congress Is Ended.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The first National Congress of Mothers, which has been in session here three days, completed its program Friday night amid scenes of intense enthusiasm. The congress was closed by Mrs. E. M. Henrotin of Chicago, who discussed club organization and gave many suggestions that will materially aid in increasing the effectiveness of the congress and state associations.

Many of the pulpits here will be occupied Sunday by delegates to the congress, in several instances special services being arranged in their honor.

Another Anti-Trust Bill Passes.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—The House Friday passed the Linck anti-trust bill, which does not differ materially from the Gilbert bill, passed by the Senate earlier in the week. The jobbers succeeded in having inserted in each bill a proviso that it shall affect only those "who control the output or articles of merchandise." The Democrats endeavored to have the words stricken from the Linck bill, but failed. It is not yet certain that either House will pass the bill sent over by the other.

The Michigan Legislature.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 20.—When the legislature adjourned Friday nearly 1,100 bills had been introduced. The fight between the governor and the Senate was further intensified by the introduction of a bill requiring the executive to send in his nominations to fill vacancies during the legislative session. If such nominations are not made before the final adjournment of the Legislature the incumbents are to continue in office until the next session.

SENATORS DISCUSS THE PEACE TREATY

THEY REFUSE TO POSTPONE THE MATTER.

Beyond the Recording of Individual Opinions, Nothing Is Accomplished, However,—Spirited Debate In the House—Naval Appropriations—General News From the Capital.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The senate adjourned at 8:15 o'clock Friday night, after having spent almost eight hours in continuous executive session on the arbitration treaty. No result was accomplished beyond voting down the motion made Thursday by Senator Nelson to postpone further consideration of the treaty until March 5.

Senator Sherman made repeated efforts during the day to secure a vote on ratfication or to get the senate to fix a day and hour when it would agree to vote upon the treaty. He was defeated in both purposes, and when the senate at last adjourned because of the absence of a quorum he did not say whether he would make another effort to-day or again this session to secure further consideration, but it is generally supposed that he will renew the motion for an executive session to-day.

The doors had no sooner been closed on the public at 12:30 o'clock than Senator Nelson began an earnest appeal to the senate for the adoption of his motion to postpone consideration until March 5. Senators Teller and Stewart supported the motion to postpone in brief speeches. Senator Platt took the opposite view, urging prompt action. Senator Lodge followed Mr. Platt in a five-minute speech, in which he appealed to the advocates of postponement to withdraw their opposition to a vote on ratification, and receiving no favorable response to this indirect inquiry put the question direct whether they meant to permit a vote.

To this inquiry Senator Teller responded, saying that there was no intention on the part of the advocates of postponement to permit an immediate vote. He said the more the treaty was discussed the more necessary it became to postpone in order to give proper consideration to such a "bungling document." No one, he declared, could tell what it meant, or could construe its provisions.

Senator Daniel (Va.) made a strong speech against the document. He was opposed to it on several grounds. He declared that under it the United States bound itself with shackles. The senator said he opposed giving away the rights of the senate as a part of the treaty-making power. To submit many questions to arbitration would be impolitic. We had always had good Presidents, but some time there might be a bad one. Then the country would suffer. Senator Daniel also opposed selecting judges of the Supreme Court as members of the tribunal. He objected to mixing our judiciary with foreign complications; besides, some of the questions submitted might come before our courts.

At the close of Senator Daniel's speech Senator Hoar submitted some queries to him. He wanted to know if Senator Daniel did not think it satisfactory that men who had been confirmed to such high places as judges of the Supreme Court should sit as arbitrators. Mr. Daniel replied that he did not believe the senate should abate one jot of its power in questions so vitally affecting the welfare of the country.

The vote on the motion to postpone was taken at 6 o'clock, and resulted in the negative—20 to 30. After this vote there was no quorum, and the time was spent in a vain effort to secure one.

The enemies of the treaty and the advocates of postponement refused to permit the transaction of any business in the absence of the necessary forty-six senators. Motions to adjourn, to notify absentees and other like moves were made in rapid succession. Senator Sherman repeatedly announced his determination to insist upon the severest methods to compel the attendance of a working majority, and toward the last a motion prevailed to arrest and bring in absentees. The sergeant-at-arms had, however, not completed the preparation of his warwants when a motion to adjourn, made by Senator Gallinger, a friend of the treaty, was carried.

IN THE HOUSE.

Question of Allowing for Payment of Costs but Not Judgments.

Washington, Feb. 20.—A very spirited debate on the general subject of the payment of claims found to be due against the United States was indulged by the house Friday, during the consideration of the general deficiency appropriation bill. Mr. Richardson (Tenn.) had called attention to the apparent inconsistency of an item to pay the costs of defending suits, and the fact that the bill contained no item to pay the judgments. This furnished Mr. Walker (Mass.) a text for a lively speech against the "niggardly" and "dishonest" policy of the government, and a severe arraignment of the committee on rules for the tyranny it was said to exercise over the proceedings of the house. Mr. Grosvenor (Ohio) came to the defense of the committee, warmly declaring that the house had made the rules and should abide by them. Mr. Mahon (Pa.) chairman of

Any Attempt to Prevent the Union of Crete With Greece Will Cause a General Uprising in Macedonia and Elsewhere—Turks Defeated On the Frontier.

Athens, Feb. 20.—The National league has addressed a memorandum to King George and Premier Delyannis declaring that if Europe tries to cancel the fait accompli of the union of Crete with Greece, the league, through its powerful resources in Macedonia and elsewhere in the Balkans, will provoke a general uprising of Hellenists.

A British cruiser has prevented the Greek vessel Thessalia from landing provisions and ammunitions on the island of Crete. The incident has caused much excitement here.

Turks Defeated on the Frontier.

London, Feb. 20.—A dispatch to the Times from Vienna says that the Neue Freie Presse publishes a report from Salonica to the effect that a collision has occurred between the Turkish soldiers and the Greek insurgents at Naszlitza, near the Greek frontier. The Turks were defeated with losses, and withdrew to fetch reinforcements, according to the account received by the Neue Freie Presse. The governor of Salonica has ordered the troops to the point where the disturbance took place. The population along the Greek frontier, according to the Neue Freie Presse, is eagerly awaiting the signal to rise against the Turks.

Turkish Troops Ordered Out.

Salonica, Turkey, Feb. 20.—The authorities have been ordered to arm and dispatch the reserve of third army corps to the Greek frontier.

STAMPEDE IN A SCHOOL.

Seventeen Children Injured During a Panic at Boston.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 20.—Seven hundred pupils stampeded in an attempt to leave the Everett school building in Northampton street at 10:45 o'clock Friday morning, to escape from fire. In the crush on the short stairway leading to the front entrance seventeen children were injured, some seriously.

The fire which caused the stampede broke out in a waste-paper basket in a dressing-room of one of the recitation-rooms on the first floor. After the excitement caused by the fire had subsided, several burned matches were found close to the waste basket, and as there could be no occasion for matches to be used in the room, the fire marshal's assistants, who examined the place, thought the fire must have been started by some of the pupils out of mischief. An investigation may be called for.

Mrs. Gougar Argues for Suffrage.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—Helen Gougar made the effort of her life Friday before the Indiana Supreme court with all the five judges sitting en banc. Mrs. Gougar's contention was that women have an equal right to the ballot in general elections with men; that it is not a question of the Constitution but a question for the courts. She holds that the Constitution has placed no bar in the way of women exercising the right of suffrage, but that the male population by a false construction which the courts have erroneously upheld have been able to plead a constitutional disqualifications and the women have patiently submitted to the injustice long enough.

R. G. DUN & CO.'S VIEW OF TRADE

Activity In Iron and Steel An Encouraging Sign.

New York, Feb. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

"A large increase in the iron and steel business on account of sales covering from eight to twelve months' production of the largest works, a better demand for woolen goods, and a slightly better demand for cottons, a gain which may prove lasting in boots and shoes, slightly better prices for wheat, cotton, wool, and iron, and a money market well adapted to encourage liberal purchases against future improvement in business, have rendered the last week more hopeful than any other since early in November.

"Nearly all the great railroads of the country have seized the opportunity to supply themselves with rails for one or two years' requirements. These enormous orders have advanced Bessemer pig at Pittsburg only 15 cents per ton, with Grey forge a shade lower, and no considerable change appears in the finished products, although plates are unchanged in price, with good demand, and nails are held at recent prices. The bar association no longer controls anything.

"The other industries also are gaining, though less conspicuously. The recent decline and subsequent rise in raw cotton have not materially affected the manufacture, which is gradually getting rid of its accumulated surplus, though there seems to be but little increase as yet in the demand for goods. The sales of wool have sharply declined, amounting to 7,409,300 pounds for the week, against 9,157,900 for the previous week, but, owing to the heavy transactions early in the month, the sales for three weeks have been 30,130,900 pounds, of which 18,057,300 were domestic, against 13,168,700 pounds last year, of which 5,997,500 were domestic, and 16,996,200 in 1892, of which 10,944,200 were domestic. The demand for woolen goods does not seem to have expanded materially, and no quotable change in prices has appeared during the week.

"The heavy exports in January, following the unprecedented excess of exports over imports of merchandise in the four previous months, are largely due to the fact that neither the wheat nor the cotton markets have been materially controlled by speculation. Wheat dropped to 80.75 cents, but rose to 83.25 cents, with no important impulse, except the conviction that recent prices have been low enough.

"The western receipts of corn have been well-nigh double last year's, and for three weeks the Atlantic exports have been 6,317,214 bushels, against 2,234,899 last year. Evidently this movement is displacing many million bushels of wheat in foreign consumption.

"The failures of the last week have been 303 in the United States, against 280 last year, and 58 in Canada, against 66 last year."

Wolcott Talks of Errand.

London, Feb. 20.—Senator Edward O. Wolcott of Colorado, who has been visiting London, Paris and Berlin in the interests of bimetallism, has returned here from the last-named city. I have good reason to believe that it will have some of the results hoped for."

Rich Gold Find Near Hot Sprins.

The preliminary examination, which has occupied nearly two weeks in the municipal court, was concluded Thursday evening but Judge Donavan reserved his decision until this morning.

The court, in announcing his decision, said in this case no person would deny that an enormous offense had been committed. Probable cause, the court said, to believe the defendant guilty was defined to be a reasonable ground of suspicion supported by circumstances sufficiently strong in themselves.

Ayres had been identified with the numerous "can gangs" of Madison, and this is not his first experience in the clutches of the law.

Town To Take Stock.

Chetek, Wis., Feb. 20—The project of building a railroad from Cameron to Dallas has been again revived. Mr. Jack was born in Ireland of Scotch parents eighty-one years ago. When 7 years of age he came to this country, first settling in Canada. He went to Chicago in 1836, when that metropolis was a village. He came to Beloit in 1837—sixty years ago, eleven years before Wisconsin was a state Beloit then had only a sawmill and a boarding house for the New England colony, who were the first whites to settle in this vicinity. There was but one other structure, and this was a log house on Rock River, and was occupied by Uncle Caleb Blodgett, who has many descendents here.

Mr. Jack helped to build the first grist mill in this vicinity. It was located on Turtle Creek and burned down a short time ago. Then he went three miles east of Beloit, and purchased a farm which he owned until a year ago. Mr. Jack made three trips to California—the first in 1852, and and the second ten years later. He engaged in mining successfully, and on the second trip was accompanied by his wife. They made the journey by water, crossing the isthmus, but six years ago went by rail to the golden state.

NEW RULE ADOPTED BY THE METHODISTS

TO EXAMINE CANDIDATES FOR THE MINISTRY.

Rev. H. W. Thompson Is One of the Men Who Will Help to Carry Out The Departure Inaugurated Today —The Sermon Themes In Local Churches.

Rev. H. W. Thompson of this city, is a member of the examining board, the recent new departure in the methods of examining candidates for the ministry in the Methodist church, which went into effect today by the organization of the new board of examiners, which was elected at the meeting of the conference for this district. The meeting will be held in Oshkosh in connection with the session of the Epworth League.

It has been the custom in the past for each Methodist conference to appoint a board of examiners, whose duty it was to examine candidates for the ministry. These boards were appointed every year. It was necessary for the candidates to appear before the board for examination each year for four years. Under the old rule the candidates came before new men each year. The general conference changed this by providing tha each conference should elect examining boards which should hold office for four years, thus giving candidates an opportunity to appear before the same examiners each year At their meeting they will organize by the election of a chairman and other officers, after which there will be a distribution of the studies of which each member will have charge.

COTERIE CLUB GAVE THEIR FIRST SOCIAL

LAST NIGHT'S SMOKER WAS A SUCCESS.

The Rooms Are Cosily Furnished, and Good Cheer Abounded—Another Reception Is Planned—The Beggars' Ball At the Armory—Some Other Events.

In a cosy suite of rooms above No. 16 South Main street the Coterie club gave their first social last evening and forty two guests were present to enjoy their hospitality. The affair was a "smoker" and nothing was spared to make the first event one long to be remembered. At 7:30 o'clock the guests began to assemble and the hands of the clock pointed to one before the festivities ended. The rooms consist of a smoking, cloak and assembly quarter. Handsome pictures set off by rich draperies adorn the walls while Turkish rugs, banquet lamps add a home like effect, large American flags tell of the patriotism of the members. Light refreshments were served William Farrell being in charge and a musical program was rendered by the Coterie Glee, Mandolin and Guitar club. The club are now planning a reception for their lady friends. Those present last evening were:

The grand march occurred at 11 o'clock, and one hundred couples were in line.

R. J. Bennett's Lecture.

R. J. Bennett lectured on "Paris the Bewitching City" at the Y. M. C A. building last evening and a large audience heard his interesting address. Stereoptican pictures were used effectively, and the concert by the Y. M. C A. band that preceded the lecture was very enjoyable.

The Same Old Story....

Breathless, excited, she rushed into the store, dashed up to a clerk and in broken utterances declared that she had paid too much for a certain kind of goods; that she could buy identically the same thing elsewhere at five cents a yard less. Our clerk, with face illuminated by a Utopian smile, pleasantly remarked that possibly the article in question was better quality, and asked the lady to make a fair comparison before turning us down. The next time that lady came to our store she was in better spirits, and took pains to find the clerk with whom she had had the above conversation. After apologizing for being so hasty the last time she was in, she informed our clerk that she had made it a point to compare notes, much to her satisfaction, as she always thought we kept the quality up. It was just as our clerk said, the quality of our goods was very much better and while only five cents more was worth fully twenty-five cents more as far as the wear was concerned. It pays to get good quality when it costs but a slight advance over the inferior. and in many cases no more, at The Big Store.

THE ERMINIE REHEARSALS

Splendid Progress Being Made With the Charity Opera.

The rehearsals for the comic opera "Erminie" are going along beautifully, and the use of books has been dispensed with. Everybody connected with the production of the opera is taking an interest in it which foretells its complete success, when put on in the opera house, February 25 and 26

Mr Webster who is directing the production of the opera, is an artist in his line and the best director who has ever attempted anything of a similar nature in Janesville. Those under his instruction cannot fail to appreciate the rare opportunity which they are enjoying, for a more thorough teacher it would be impossible to find. His special talent for the work is shown in the splendid results which are being shown in the rehearsals, and we predict that people will be more than delighted when the opera is given in public.

A DELEGATION of Baptist Young People attended a chicken pie supper at Afton last night.

Nervous

People often wonder why their nerves are so weak; why they get tired so easily; why they start at every slight but sudden sound; why they do not sleep naturally; why they have frequent headaches, indigestion and nervous

Dyspepsia

The explanation is simple. It is found in that impure blood which is continually feeding the nerves upon refuse instead of the elements of strength and vigor. In such condition opiate and nerve compounds simply deaden and do not cure. Hood's Sarsaparilla feeds the nerves pure, rich, red blood; gives natural sleep, perfect digestion, is the true remedy for all nervous troubles.

BE A BIG CROWD AT THE FAIR

Attendance Will Be Larger Than It Was Last Year.

Eight thousand people attended the mid winter fair last year despite the short notice. A larger number is assured for March 2, 3 and 4. Illinois is taking an interest in the fair. Prof. W. A. Henry, dean of the agricultural college writes to Ogden H. Fethers promising to speak Tuesday evening and saying:

When at a meeting of farmers in Rockford a couple of weeks since I was asked for information concerning Wisconsin institutes; how they were conducted, if the attendance was good, etc. I said to them: "If you wish to see a regular Wisconsin institute, come to Janesville early in March. We will there be able to show you what sort of people we have in Wisconsin and how they run institutes."

Those present said they would surely come up, and think you will open the eyes of our Illinois friends just a little in the matter of how institutes are conducted in Wisconsin.

Superintendent McKerrow writes that the best of talent for the cooking school may be announced. Mr. McKerrow will be in charge of the farm institute during the entire week. The change of dates made it necessary to provide a special program throughout, and Janesville has gained at every point by the change.

Sale Day on Wednesday.

A sale day for farmers will be a feature of the fair. Wednesday, March 3 has been hit upon by common consent for the marketing of stock seed grain and other salable property.

A bulletin board will be provided for the listing of offers, when goods are not to be brought in. For example, a farmer who has a Poland China boar to sell or exchange can either bulletin it with his name and postoffice address or can bring in the animal to show to the crowd. In so large a gathering buyers will be found for almost any article.

A sale secretary will be on duty throughout the fair and will list every article brought to his notice. Seed grain may be sold by sample, blooded stock may be sold or exchanged, in fact, an outlet will be furnished for every sort of farm produce.

THREE JANESVILLE MEN PASS

Granted Certificates By State Board Of Pharmacy—New Rule Adopted

The state board of pharmacy at its session which was concluded at Milwaukee yesterday took an important step in the matter of recognizing the boards of other states. Through its action in the case of D. R. Campbell Durand, Wis., the board announces that hereafter it will recognize the certificates granted by boards of pharmacy in other states, Mr. Campbell held a certificate from the Minnesota state board of pharmacy and applied for registration in this state. The board granted him the right without undergoing any further examination.

This is the first time such a case has come up, and the step taken by the Wisconsin board will undoubtedly be followed by the boards of other states. In this way a candidate who has passed a successful examination in any state where there is a state board, can by filing his examination papers obtain the right to register in any state.

Sixty-five candidates appeared for examination before the board at its present session. Among them were several Janesville people. O. E. Smith and R. T. Sarasy were granted first grade certificates, and E. A. Hemming was granted assistant's papers.

The Drama at the Vatican.

Theatricals in the vatican! The announcement, though strange, is true. Pope Leo has hitherto allowed no theatrical representations to be given within the walls of the vatican. He has, however, lately made one exception. The historic Swiss guards from the canton of Valais, who, in their yellow and crimson uniforms, are on sentinel and escort duty within the palace, suffer, it seems, from homesickness and ennui. To these human weaknesses the pope has made the concession of allowing short amateur pieces with orchestral accompaniment to be acted during the coming winter. The entertainments are to take place in the small private theater within the Belvedere gardens. The performance is to consist of harp and violin music, monologues and short pieces in French. So here is one more link between church and stage.

FORTY YEARS

OF SUFFERING FROM PILES.

Remarkable Cure of Popular Major Dean of Columbus, Ohio.

People who suffer from that annoying and obstinate disease will be gratified to learn that science has discovered a safe, convenient and simple cure for every form of piles, as the experience of the popular Major Dean of Columbus, Ohio, amply attests. The Major says: I would like to add my name to the thousands who have been cured by the Pyramid Pile Cure. I knew from experience that it is the only remedy on earth that will effectually cure piles; plenty of remedies give relief for a time, but as for a lasting cure I had tried all the salves, lotions, etc., without success. Six boxes of the Pyramid Pile Cure entirely removed all traces of a case of piles of forty years standing.

You may rest assured that the Pyramid Pile Cure has no stauncher advocate than myself.

I feel that it is my duty to allow you to use my name in any way you may see fit, in order that other sufferers may thus be directed to what I feel certain will be a speedy relief and cure.

The Pyramid Pile Cure gives instant relief and a permanent cure in all kinds of blind, bleeding, itching piles.

It is absolutely free from opiates, cocaine and similar poisons, so common in pile cures.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents and $1.

A book on cause and cure of Piles will be sent free by addressing the Pyramid Co., Albion, Mich.

Torturing, itching, scaly skin eruptions, burns and scalds are soothed at once and promptly healed by DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the best known cure for piles. C. D. Stevens.

Getting Even With Him.

It is always gratifying to one's sense of justice to see the tables turned upon a would be swindler. Mrs. J. G. Jebb tells the story of a young Englishman who was traveling in Mexico. One Don Manuel represented to him the immense value of a certain silver mine, with which circumstances compelled him to part. But his friend should see and judge for himself.

The two men were accordingly lowered a short distance into the shaft, and the Englishman was so pleased with the appearance of the ore that he gave his check for half the purchase price. Later he felt moved to explore his investment farther, and, going alone to the mine, hired an Indian in the vicinity to lower the cage. He speedily discovered that the mine was full of water.

Putting into immediate action a plan of reprisal, he sought Don Manuel and expressed his desire to visit the shaft again, to which the Mexican reluctantly yielded. The Indian was again hired to lower the cage, Don Manuel, at the Englishman's instance, giving the requisite instructions. The Englishman then politely motioned the older man to be seated.

Hardly had he done so when the Indian, in obedience to a gesture from his secret patron, began turning the windlass. In vain Don Manuel entreated and threatened, till his voice arose faintly from far below.

Then the cage was drawn up to within a few feet of the surface, and the Englishman demanded of its drenched occupant the surrender of his check. Evidently the young man meant business, and, without a word, Don Manuel yielded.

"Now you can come out. I hope you have not taken a chill?" inquired the Englishman courteously. — Youth's Companion.

How is Your Baby?

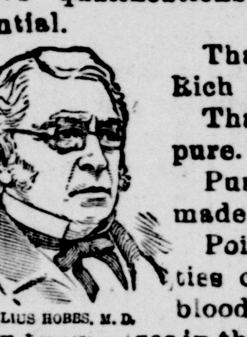
A baby's health depends directly upon its mother's milk.

Two qualifications are absolutely essential.



JULIUS HOBBS, M. D.

That the milk be Rich and Nourishing.

That the milk be pure.

Pure milk cannot be made from bad blood.

Poisons and impurities circulating in the blood of the mother show themselves in that mother's milk.

Every nursing mother should have perfectly pure blood or her child will suffer the consequences.

Dr. Hobbs Sparagus Kidney Pills

are a necessity for mothers who hope to raise strong, healthy and robust children, for they keep the blood constantly filtered and purified.

PATIENCE AND INDOLENCE.

To Bide One's Time Is Not to Remain Inactive.

Patience is a virtue and indolence a folly, if not a crime, yet on the principle that "all things come to those who wait" there is some danger of confounding these terms, says the New York Ledger. We must be patient and wait, not indolent. All things do not come to the lazy, indolent waiters. It is only to those who work while they wait that "all things will come." This difference cannot be too clearly understood and in teaching children the value of patience we must be careful to have them understand it aright.

To the young man we would say: If you want to succeed in your life work do not wait for "something to turn up," but turn up something yourself, no matter how humble it may be. It is better to be occupied, even if you get no pay, than it is to be idle. How often do we hear the expression: "I am willing to work if I am paid." And does not this expression usually come from those who are idle and indolent? We think so, for those who are naturally industrious can find something to do, even if it pays little or nothing. Employers do not hunt up the indolent people who are only willing to work when they are paid when they are in want of workmen or workwomen. If you want to get profitable employment there is no better plan than to patiently keep on doing what it is possible for you to do, whether it gives a reasonable remuneration or not. Persevere in doing what you can as faithfully as if you were well paid and patiently wait for a change of fortune. This is the kind of waiting that precedes and commands success. There are many people who possess ability enough to succeed in life but who are always out of a job because they never learned the value of industry when they were young Parents should understand this matter better than they do and warn their children against indolence. Habits of industry or of idleness are generally formed during childhood and youth—if we say always instead of generally we should hit nearer the mark, for who ever saw an industrious child that turned out idle at maturity? Dissipation may change the life of a youth in this respect, but a child who loves to be industrious rarely becomes dissipated, unless driven to evil courses by despair. In such cases as these the remedy is always at hand with those who have been brought up to be industrious—with them kind treatment and employment supplies a sure cure. But how different it is with the young man who has "gone to the bad," if the seeds of idleness have been sown in his youth! In this latter case the habits of youth have got to be overcome, as well as those of dissipation, and it requires a Godlike patience on the part of those who undertake the job to perfect a cure. Patience and perseverance are twins—they should go together—and the young man or the young woman who possesses them will surely succeed in life.

An Oleo Victim.

He was a member of the theatrical profession. The rich voice and studied accents with which he addressed the waiter showed this.

"Do you realize," he said, "that we are suffering from misplaced energy?"

"No, sir, I did not."

"Well, we are," was the rejoinder, with a sigh. "You may remove everything except the bread, the coffee and the steak. What we are suffering from now is not enough art in the drama, and not enough realism in the butter." —Washington Star.

There Are Others.

Mrs. Meek—Of course I am worried. As a dutiful wife I can't help feeling so, for I am sure that my husband is keeping something from me, and I shan't be content until I know what it is.

Mrs. Freak—My husband is keeping something from me, too, and I am worried because I know what it is.

Mrs. Meek—Indeed! What is it?

Mrs. Freak—It's money. — Boston Courier.

Priscilla—Jack is the oddest fellow. He took me driving yesterday, and when we were seven miles from home he said, if I wouldn't promise to marry him he'd make me get out and walk back.

FREE TO EVERY MAN

WHICH CURED HIM AFTER EVERYTHING ELSE FAILED

THE METHOD OF A GREAT TREATMENT FOR WEAKNESS OF MEN.

Painful diseases are bad enough, but when a man is slowly wasting away with nervous weakness, the mental forebodings are ten times worse than the most severe pain. There is no let up to the mental suffering day or night. Sleep is almost impossible and under such a strain men are scarcely responsible for what they do. For years the writer rolled and tossed on the troubled sea of sexual weakness until it was a question whether he had not better take a dose of poison and thus end all his troubles. But providential inspiration came to his aid in the shape of a combination of medicines that not only completely restored the general health, but enlarged his weak, emaciated parts to natural size and vigor, and he now declares that any man who will take the trouble to send his name and address may have the method of this wonderful treatment free. Now when I say free I mean absolutely without cost, because I want every weakened man to get the benefit of my experience.

I am not a philanthropist, nor do I pose as an enthusiast, but there are thousands of men suffering the mental tortures of weakened manhood who would be cured at once could they but get such a remedy as the one that cured me. Do not try to study out how I can afford to pay the few postage stamps necessary to mail the information, but send for it, and learn that there are a few things on earth that although they cost nothing to get they are worth a fortune to some men and mean a lifetime of happiness to most of us. Write to Thomas Slater Box 494, Kalamazoo, Mich., and the information will be mailed in a plain sealed envelope.

THE CAUCUS LAW.

The legislature seems thoroughly awakened to the evils of the caucus system. Half a dozen different bills offer as many different solutions to the problem. It remains to be seen whether the people care enough to demand action.

The average voter denounces ring rule, bosses and caucus packers and is justified by results in doing it every day in the year. He recognizes the caucus as the starting point in all political transactions; but he may not be there, or rather he is very probable to be somewhere else. In the majority of cases he does not know or has forgotten that anything in which he is interested is going forward. Nobody sends a hack for him, and unless he belongs to an inner circle his vote is not wanted. A plan of operations has been arranged for the primary by the boss in embryo or possession. He knows who will support it, and takes care that his private list is large enough to control the usual light vote. Nothing would disturb him more than to find the full vote of the ward coming in. Ordinarily, he has nothing to fear on this score. The great majority of voters fail to appear. Many are simply neglectful, while not a few remain away because they detest machine rule, rings and bosses. Politics is a bad lot in their opinion, and to vote once a year at a general election is about their limit.

Here, then, at the primary meetings, is the sole source and genesis of the boss. He flourishes because the majority of voters neglect their duty. It is doubtful whether any primary law can defeat him, for what law can work a change in human nature? Especially is it doubtful if anything short of an all day primary election can afford much improvement. The present system is economical, simple but subject to grave abuse. In sacrificing simplicity and economy we should be certain we are to gain along the line of efficiency and good government. The legislative debates bearing on this point will be read with lively interest.

THE STATE FINANCES.

Treasurer Peterson's supplementary report supports Governor Scofield's declaration at every point. Treasurer Peterson shows that the condition of the treasury January 1, 1897, was somewhat better than January 1, 1895. He goes to the root of the matter when he says that the Peck administration left the general fund crippled to the amount of $275,000 The effort of Peck and his advisors to make political capital out of the manipulation of trust funds is treated with the severity it deserves. The treasurer closes by saying:

"Under the circumstances, the duties of the treasurer have not been pleasant nor agreeable; and I agree with you fully when you say that the finances of the state should be placed now upon a different basis. It is humiliating for any state official to be compelled to apply to corporations for advances in order to keep up the credit of the state.

"Your recommendation that authority should be given for the proper state officers to levy the annual state tax for the maintenance of the general fund, including the excess of appropriations, is pertinent and timely and as you say it should be made the duty it should be obligatory, thus preventing any political party that may be in power from making political capital at the expense of the general fund and to the detriment of the financial interests of the state."

Every business man will endorse the treasurer's views on this point.

HARVEY PEASE, of Fulton, looked over the local tobacco market today.

the war claims committee, made the statement that the house had been frightened by a "bogie man," and the just claims against the government, instead of aggregating hundreds of millions, as was frequently stated, could be discharged with $10,000,000. The consideration of the bill was not completed. The bill carries $8,441,027.

Naval Appropriation Bill.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The naval appropriation bill for the next fiscal year has been practically completed by the house committee on naval affairs. The bill carries a total of about $33,000,000, which is about $3,000,000 more than the appropriations for the current year. The committee decided to put in the bill the new battle-ship of the first class recommended by the subcommittee. It is to cost, including hull, armor and machinery, not more than $3,750,000.

No Quorum Attends.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The advocates of the international monetary conference bill, which is in the hands of the house committee on coinage, were disappointed by the result of the meeting of the committee called Friday. There was no quorum present, nor was there any one on hand to address the committee on the subject.

Carnegie Invades Great Britain.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 20.—The Carnegie Steel company has confirmed the report that it has broken into the territory of English manufacturers and is underselling them on steel rails. During the last week the company has closed orders for export to England for 100,000 tons. The collapse of the rail pool shows that American rails will force the English product out of the latter's own market. The Carnegie company also booked an order from Japan for 11,000 tons. Between 30,000 and 35,000 additional tons were booked from foreign countries.

Catholics Charge Discrimination.

Quincy, Ill., Feb. 20.—A mass meeting of Catholics has been called for Sunday, when a formal protest will be prepared against the bill before the Illinois Legislature providing free books to pupils of public schools. The Catholics claim it is an unfair discrimination against parochial schools, and besides having their children to supply with books Catholics will be taxed for books for the pupils of the public schools.

Wins the Buttermakers' Prize.

Webster City, Iowa, Feb. 20.—Through Hamilton County, Iowa has won the first grand sweepstake prize at the National Buttermakers' Association in session at Owatonna, Minn. Butter from the creamery of Randall, just south of here, scored 98½ per cent in competition with the product from all parts of the United States. The same creamery won the grand sweepstakes at the last state convention.

No Trace of the Murderers.

Bismarck, N. D., Feb. 20.—It now seems certain that the murder of the Spicer family at Winona occurred Wednesday afternoon. Two drunken Indians were seen in the vicinity at that time, and it is known that one Indian had an engagement with Mr. Spicer to trade horses. No tracks of the Indians have been found as yet, and the search will be prosecuted with greater vigilance.

McClaughry Warden at Joliet.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—The commissioners of the Joliet penitentiary appointed Major R. W. McClaughry, at present superintendent of the state reformatory for boys, at Pontiac, warden of the penitentiary. Ex-Senator Geo. Torrence of Pontiac was appointed superintendent of the state reformatory for boys by the trustees of that institution.

Big Toledo Elevator Burns.

Toledo, Ohio, Feb. 20.—The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railway elevator, "A," burned Friday night. According to the best figures obtainable, there was 325,000 bushels of wheat stored in the elevator. The loss on elevator and grain will aggregate $355,000. Thirty cars were burned on the tracks.

Venezuela Certain to Accept.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The congress of Venezuela meets today with the expectation of considering the treaty providing for the arbitration of the boundary dispute with Great Britain. Senor Andrade, the Venezuelan minister here, says there can be no doubt of the ratification of the treaty.

Editors Select Officers.

Galveston, Feb. 20.—The twelfth annual session of the National Editorial association adjourned Friday to meet next year at Denver. Louis Holtman, Democrat, Brazil, Ind., was elected president.

Unseat Oregon Legislators.

Salem, Ore., Feb. 20.—The Benson House on Friday unseated twenty-seven members who refused to qualify. The house then adjourned until Monday.

Sheriff Shot from Ambush.

Santa Fe, N. M., Feb. 20.—Sheriff Dow of Eddy county was shot dead by two men concealed between buildings. He was active in the persecution of cattle thieves.

Ambassador Uhl Makes a Denial.

Berlin, Feb. 20.—Ambassador Uhl denies the report that he will be a partner in the firm of Cleveland, Olney & Uhl.

THE BLUES.

A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF THE DREADFUL FEELING.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:—

She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back also; has slept poorly; been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling. Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right." She grows worse day by day, till all at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake.

She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES. Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not, and she was allowed to suffer. By chance she came across one of Mrs. Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman. Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the story recited above is the true experience of hundreds of women, whose letters of gratitude are to be found on file in Mrs. Pinkham's library.

A Clear Complexion

is sooner obtained and longer retained by improving the entire system. Ladies who wish to be beautiful should go about it in a commonsense way to secure good health without which no person can be truly beautiful. No amount of powders, cosmetics or creams can impart lasting beauty to a face so long as the body is filled with disease. That haggard, worn expression can not be obliterated by the "face carpenter's" art. Health is essential to beauty and makes beauty more satisfactory to yourself, your family and your friends.

M. Aiden Morehouse, the New York Specialist, is here to stay. He is a successful worker in the treatment of lingering diseases. If he can restore you to perfect health you will be just as beautiful as the wise Creator ever intended you to be. A body free from disease is a fit dwelling place for a cheerful spirit which will surely imprint itself upon the face.

FOLSOM IS IN JAIL ON ARSON CHARGE

CLINTON MAN PLACED UNDER ARREST.

Under Sheriff Cochrane, Who Has Been Investigating the Burning of The Big Burt Hay Barn, Worked Up the Case—No Other Charge Made.

Charles Folsom of Clinton, is in jail, the charge against him being arson.

Sheriff Acheson is the complaining witness, and he alleges that Folsom set fire to the big hay barn owned by Giles Burt, Folsom's father-in-law, which burned on November 9.

The penalty for the offense, is from four to eight years in the penitentiary, and Folsom hopes to be able to get bail in the sum of $1,000.

The astute undersheriff, Wallace Cochrane, worked up the case, and has been quietly prosecuting his investigations sor some time past.

Yesterday he visited Clinton, and made a final survey of the situation. Then he came back to Janesville and consulted District Attorney Jackon. The 7:20 train took him back to Clinton, and Folsom was arrested, the undersheriff bringing him to Janesville on the 8:20 o'clock train last evening.

$1,000 Bail Required.

Folsom was taken into court by Undersheriff Cochrane this morning. J. L. Mahoney appeared for him and asked for a change of venue. Judge Phelps denied the motion, and the case was set for next Wednesday, Folsom being required to give bail in the sum of $1,000. This he was unable to do and so was committed to jail, but he hopes to find bondsmen soon.

Folsom is a son-in-law of Giles Burt, the man who owned the big hay warehouse that burned last fall. At that time it was charged that the fire was of incendiary origin, and public feeling was strong. Then, it will be remembered, nearly the whole business part of the village was burned, and help was sent from this city. The burning of the Cheesman hotel was the last straw, and the people were ready for anything. Folsom, however, is not charged with having a hand in these fires. The only charge against him is the one made in connection with the Burt fire, and Attorney Mahoney said today his arrest was the fruit of a "family affair."

Was a Hay and Stock Dealer.

Folsom has lived in Clinton for some time, and is said to have an excellent reputation. He was engaged in the business of buying cattle and hay.

Some days ago, it will be remembered, he was fined by a Clinton justice on an assault and battery charge. Attorney Mahoney then attacked the validity of the incorporation of the village, and Folsom planned to go to jail and bring suit for damages for false imprisonment. The passage of a bill legalizing the acts of the village officers knocked that case in the head, the notice coming while the matter was being heard before Court Commissioner Carpenter.

The charge is a serious one, and unless Folshm is cleared, he will have to go to Waupun. The maximum penalty is eight years imprisonment, and the minimum four years.

AIR BRAKE TANK EXPLODED

Flying Plugs Came Very Near Injuring Two Women.

Two heavy pieces of iron cut their way through the air at the Five Points railroad crossing yesterday and two persons narrowly escaped injury. An explosion in the air brake tank on the Northwestern engine was the cause. Engineer John Baker had pulled up to the crossing and was waiting for the Afton passenger train to pass when the explosion occured. The report was heard for several blocks around. Two heavy iron plugs flew through the air. One lodged against the foundation of Schaller & McKey's office narrowly missing two lady pedestrians while the other has not been found.

DID WHITTAKER DIE BEFORE JANUARY 9

FINE LEGAL QUESTION STOPS THE SALE.

Attachments Were Filed On That Day, and If He Was Dead At That Time, They Will Not Hold Good—Sale And Funeral At the Same Hour.

When did James Whittaker die?
Was he dead on Jan. 2?
Or did he die before Jan. 9?

Upon these questions the matter of whether or not his creditors get anything from his estate depends.

The property of a dead man cannot be attached. The attachments were placed on the property on Jan. 9 Hence, if Whittaker committed suicide before that day, the attachments will not hold good. The letter to his wife, in which he spoke of killing himself, was written on Jan. 2. Hence, the assumption is that he committed suicide on that day.

This point was raised after the sale begun this afternoon. Judge Sale was appealed to, and he appointed Fred L. Clemons as special administrator, to arrange matters. By law, Mrs. Whittaker is entitled to $200.

The highest bid made before the sale was stopped, was made by John Soulman, who offered $325.

Funeral Is Held

As Officer Hogan was about to act as auctioneer in selling the stock to the highest bidder this afternoon the funeral cortege, and the remains of the former well known cigar manufacturer, passed the factory on West Milwaukee street, enroute for Oak Hill.

By a strange coincidence, the sale, some days ago, had been set for this afternoon at 2 o'clock, the same day and hour as the funeral.

The remains arrived in the city on last evening's train and the funeral was held from F. D. Kimball's undertaking rooms.

Members of Western Star Lodge No. 14, Free and Accepted Masons attended in a body and the services at the grave were conducted by the lodge. Mr. Whittaker having been an honored member of the order.

The pall bearers were Richard Griffiths, A. L. Talmadge, W. H. Merritt, R. C. Yoemans, George Corliss, J. B. Jaquish.

Stockyard Inquiry Set Back.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 20.—The proposed investigation of the Union Stock Yards company suffered a temporary setback Friday in the house. Representative Berryman of Jo Daviess county, representing the committee on agriculture, offered a resolution recommending the appointment of a subcommittee to join committees from the Kansas and Missouri legislatures for an inquiry into the methods of the corporations and moved its immediate adoption. Mr. Craig, the leader of the democratic minority, objected, and Mr. Berryman moved to suspend the rules. The roll was called and the vote stood 50 to 50. As it required 102 votes to bring the matter before the house, the resolution retired to the archives of the clerk's office.

San Francisco, Feb. 20.—A sale of real estate in San Luis Obispo county has just been completed, the consideration being $22,000 for lands aggregating about 23,000 acres. The tract embraces 13,200 acres of the Ascension ranch and 11,000 acres of the Cascadero ranch. The lands adjoin. They are on the line of the coast route of the Southern Pacific railway, being near Paso Robles. The soil is adapted to grain and fruit raising and a large tract is fine grazing land.

$500 MORE NEEDED TO START THE CARS

SUM TOTAL PLEDGED IS NOW ABOUT $2,000.

Employes Picked Up About $250, of Which Electrician Reeder Secured About $150—Contributions Ranged From One Dollar Up to Twenty—Insurance Money Is All Paid.

The committee of street car employes who have the street car subscription list in hand, have raised $250 This makes the total sum raised close to $2,000. Of the $250 raised by the men Charles Reeder, the electrician, secured $150. The amounts subscribed range from $1 to $20. Among the largest donations received by the street car employes are: S. D. Conant, $20; William Ross, $15; and Dr. C. T. Peirce, $10.

The loss by fire on the power house and machinery has all been paid. Hayner & Beers and Carter & Haselton, who represented the interested companies, and the representatives of Mr. Blabon have reached an understanding and the Philadelphian will get about $3,800 on his policies.

Now that the matter of the insurance has been settled the future of the road depends wholly on what the citizens of Janesville do in the matter. If the power house is built the cars will run, and the line will be better equipped than ever.

"Times are hard and money is scarce," said a local business man this morning. "The only things I know of that are scarcer than money are street car lines, so if we want one we had better embrace the opportunity of getting it."

THE HIDDEN BEAUTY.

The black stream flows along
Whose waters we despise,
Show us reflected there
Some fragrant of the skies,
'Neath tangled thorns and briers
(The task is fit for thee)
Seek for the hidden flowers
We are too blind to see;
Then will I thy great gift
A crown and blessing call.
Angels look thus on men,
And God sees good in all

DECEIVERS EVER.

Carey Churchill Carter Channing, first lieutenant, Ninth cavalry, died so long ago that most of his story is forgotten, although it was a very great wonder at the time. Everybody connected with it is dead also—his mother and the other two women—and so many first lieutenants have filled his place since then that no one's heart is likely to be wounded by repeating it.

He was a superb great fellow—as all the men in his regiment were said to be in those days—of the big, blond and brave type, knowing neither fear nor failure, and his fascination was something that has become a tradition in the service. So many girls—aye, and married women, too—had loved him that the shores upon which he had touched were strewn with wrecks.

The hearts of all those women had been broken, actually broken, not just dented a little, as is usually the case in such affairs. Their lives were openly ruined, yet Channing kept himself free of blame. No one could say "he should not have done thus or so;" he never committed himself; he never acted in a compromising fashion in the presence of a third person. But the women who ran insanely on into the desert of disillusion, following the elusive pillars of the smoke of his words and the fire of his looks, never again passed beyond into the land of content across the wilderness. They despised themselves in that pitiful fashion that women have, but they loved him always, for such is the way of their kind.

It had been his good fortune to have dealings only with women who either thought of him alone, forgetting themselves, or with those too gentle to denounce him. Then, too, he had managed well; there was never any definite proof. But in the early summer of 1885 the pitcher that had been carried 99 times to the well narrowly escaped being broken.

The bride of Captain Morton, having seen fit, with due encouragement, to fall in love with him, threatened to become unmanageable. She was a most wonderfully attractive, feminine little thing, but she was neither of the self immolating nor of the concealing sort. Having lost her heart, she lost her head, and Channing was in much danger of having his methods exposed.

His captain advised him. "Channing, you'd better take a leave and get out for a bit."

"Why?"

"Well, it's a delicate subject, but Morton's an old friend of mine, and I don't want to see his wife disgrace him."

"But what have I done? I am as innocent as a baby, and besides, I think you are mistaken."

"We all exonerate you. It's not your fault, but I'm not mistaken. It's evident to the whole post. Take my advice and go see your mother, like a dutiful son."

Channing was flattered, but he was also frightened; nevertheless, he was undecided.

There was a hop that same night. Mrs. Morton was there, and it was her actions that determined Channing to take Captain Lytton's counsel. She was already in the hoprcom talking to the latter when Channing appeared, and the moment she saw him, standing tall and graceful and indifferent in the doorway, she grew so white that the whole room noticed it, and she trembled visibly. She realized her paleness and knew that Captain Lytton's quick movement to put himself between her and the watching eyes had been unavailing.

Her own soft eyes filled as she raised them piteously. "You see what a spectacle I am making of myself. I can't help it. I've tried hard. There's nothing for it but to go away or break down."

"Poor little girl! Come away, then."

"If you will just take me home and tell Dan I"— She stopped, losing the thread of her words, for Channing was approaching.

Captain Lytton offered her his arm. "Come quickly," he said.

"Just wait a minute, please—just till I tell Mr. Channing I can't stay for our dance."

She had flushed up, and her eyes were brilliant. She put out her hand to Channing, drew it back and again stretched it forth confusedly.

He took it and pressed it—yes, she was sure he pressed it almost. "The third you promised me, wasn't it?"

"Yes, I think so," she answered.

Captain Lytton turned on his heel and walked away.

At the end of the third dance, while they strolled together up and down the line, Channing experimented to see how far she would go. To his consternation, he found that she would stop at nothing short of blazoning her infatuation from the house tops. A scandal was not what Channing wanted. He was very gentle with her, but she wept and said all manner of foolish things, until Captain Lytton came upon them and took her home.

Very soon after this the lieutenant went on to visit his mother. She was a Virginian of the conventional poor but proud order, and she lived on what had once been the kitchen garden of the family estate. Quite as often as not she was on the point of hunger, when there was no demand for the needlework of her quivering old fingers. Her son did not contribute to her support. "All of my beggarly pay and more, too, goes to keep up appearances. My regiment is great on esprit de corps. I'd like awfully well to help you, mother, but I must hold up my end of the row. I am a Channing." And she loved him all the better.

While he was with her in the summer of 1885 through sheer lack of excitement he became enamored of a certain Anna Trafford. He asked her to marry him, quite the last thing he would have expected himself to do—and she, being completely fascinated, consented without even a decent amount of hesitation. It was arranged that in the late fall she should join Channing at the town nearest his post and there be married.

In September, the unhappy Mrs. Morton having gone hopelessly away to another garrison, the lieutenant rejoined his regiment. He mentioned the fact of his engagement to no one, but proceeded promptly to lure on another woman, a girl of gorgeous beauty, a hot blooded brunette, with the eyes of a Jael, the brow of a Madonna, and a sensitive, well made mouth. She was the only daughter of Colonel Ross, motherless and betrothed to one Lieutenant Hawthorne, who had loved her since they had been babies making mud pies together on the sun blasted parade ground of Camp Thomas. She broke her engagement, and she broke young Hawthorne's heart. But her own turn was to come.

In November, giving way ungraciously enough to Anna Trafford's pleadings, Channing granted her permission to join him at the railroad town. She was very poor. Generally she was considerate and self sacrificing. Now she clamored and would not be quieted until a mortgage was raised on the wretched little house that was all in the world her mother and crippled sister owned. She bought her ticket with the money, and ten days after the receipt of Channing's letter she was at the meeting place—alone.

She spent a day and two nights in the mean little depot hotel, very nearly out of her mind with loneliness, fright and at last an acknowledged distrust. Then Channing's mother arrived, and an officer met them with an ambulance. Channing was dying of a fever, the mother told her. The doctor had telegraphed for her without her son's knowledge the day after the girl had left the village. Then Anna reproached herself for her suspicions with unreasoning bitterness.

The drive to the post took two days. It was a horrible experience for the officer. The road stretched on, on, on, across desert and bad lands, where even the greasewood and mesquite was burned by the terrible sun. The old woman sank from the dust and the heat into an almost senseless state. The girl, being young and strong and alive, fought with the strangling dust, gasped, twisted her small hands and bit into her lips in a perfectly silent struggle. Sometimes, as the lieutenant sat opposite them, he wished that they would cry or make some sound.

The beautiful daughter of Colonel Ross was standing by Channing's bed alone when the doctor led the mother and her young companion in. The lieutenant had been dead 20 minutes. The dark eyed woman did not turn. She had forgotten everything in all the world save only Channing's face. When the southern girl dropped down at the bedside and screamed for her husband, she started.

"Is the poor thing crazy?" she asked dully of Mrs. Channing.

"No. But she was not married to him. Only she was to have been married at Santa Maria two or three days ago—I forget when. He sent for her."

"That can't be true, because I am his wife."

Mrs. Channing caught at the bedpost with her shriveled old hand. "Nonsense!" she said.

"Indeed it is true. Aren't you his mother?" She put her arm tenderly about the bent shoulders. "I thought you were. You look like him. He and I were married last night at midnight, when they told us he was going to die."

"Anna! Come away, Anna! You've no right there. Get up. This girl's his wife. He didn't love you. He married her. He married her—last night."

It was cruel, but Mrs. Channing had gone mad.

For five years afterward Colonel Ross cared for the insane mother of his daughter's husband—even when his daughter was dead.

But until Channing was buried in the graveyard on the hill, where the coyotes dug up the mounds at night, and the prairie dogs barked shrilly, and the snakes glided along the dry, baked earth into their holes—until he was buried there the two women staid by her. Their trust in the dead man never faltered. The girl believed he had been ensnared on his deathbed, the wife that he had never loved the childish, pretty Virginian. Yet neither, out of pity, spoke her convictions.

Watching over his mother, they sat in the room where he had died and listened to the thud of the soldiers' feet as they marched by outside, following the young officer's flag covered coffin. Then there was a long, long silence. They were wide apart—the wife with her beautiful head in her hands, the girl looking straight at the wall, the old woman muttering and scratching at her gown with her crooked fingers.

At last came the sound of a faroff volley of musketry. The girl jumped up. "What's that?"

"The firing over his grave."

In a moment it came again. The girl stood swaying; the wife sat with her head still bowed. It was no new sound to her.

A pause—then the last volley. The girl fell, and the woman, lifting her head, stared stupidly at the pretty, dead face, at the fixed, childish eyes that still looked hurt, while the mother muttered in the corner and taps shrilled from the bugle over the grave of the man they had loved. —Gwendolen Overton in San Francisco Argonaut.

ABOVE THE HOTEL SERVANT

New Aristocracy of Help Which Lives Apart in the Big Hostelries.

With the advent of the big new hotels uptown there has arisen a new aristocracy, which is about as amusing as most American aristocracies are, says the New York World. It is the aristocracy of help. It wears its masters' and mistresses' clothing, eats in a dining room by itself and, trying to ape the manners of its employers, gives an exhibition to amuse gods and men.

Passing the dining room inhabited by these haughty ones recently a reporter heard a snatch of the conversation indulged in by the knights and ladies of the boudoir, these gentlemen's and ladies' ladies:

"Kindly pawse the buttah."

"Beg pahdong."

"A little of the butter, if you please."

"Why, certongly. It's a little passee, that butter."

"Indeed. Do you think so? I thought there was something off color in the taste, don't you know."

"Anything going on in town, Tom?"

"Not a dem thing, me boy, not a dem thing."

"Your mawster goin' abroad this year?"

"Me—oh, you mean Allie. Yes, I dessay. He usually goes—to get his closet, you know. Deucid good dresser, Allie—an' just me own size, too—but don't know much. Ah! if I had his allowance, now!"

"You'd cut a wide un, James, tee hee."

"Well, I'd try and not disgrace me name, Miss Marrie, haw haw."

"I heah the suvvants are kicking up a devil of a row over their grub. Poor creatures! I'd rather die right off than be a hotel suvvant. However, they're mostly Irish—them as isn't Germans—so it don't make much diffnnce what you feed 'em. Anything with potatoes, I guess. Haw, haw."

"Hee, hee."

And so, with light converse and bright raillery, the aristocracy of help brightens the tedium of dinner.

A FAMOUS FIDDLE.

Reported to Be Worth 60,000 Francs—Great Artists Have Played Upon It.

There is a violin in the posession of Frau Grigorieff-Krudener of Lucerne, the widow of the brilliant young performer Grigorieff, which is reputed to be worth 60,000 francs, says the Westminster Gazette. Vulliaume, Bianchi, Sivori and other experts have agreed in this extraordinary estimate. The greatest artists, Paganini, Spohr, Vieuxtemps, Joachim and Sarasate, have played upon it and there is quite a collection of documents relating to its history for the last 150 years. It was originally one of the so-called 'Kurfursten-geige," or Prince-Elector fiddles, twelve of which were made as presents to the electors of the holy Roman empire by Jacob Stainer Amati, and is the only one of the twelve which is still in existence. About a century and a half ago it came into the possession of Baron de Krudener, the Russian diplomatist and husband of the famous Mme. de Krudener, the singular religionist who played so great a part in bringing about the so-called holy alliance in 1815. Mme. de Krudener was a sort of German Lady Huntingdon, always surrounded by a court of clergymen. But one of her family, the last of the name, was a born musician, and delighted himself with the dusty, old neglected "Amati." He took to music as his profession, renounced the name of Krudener and adopted that of Grigorieff.

PRINCE BISMARCK'S STUDY.

Comfortable Working-Room Void of Coquetry or Luxury.

"Count Bismarck's study, as he called it in English, was a room of no great size nor furnished with any splendor. It was comfortable, nothing more," writes the veteran correspondent, Mr. George W. Smalley, in the Ladies Home Journal. "There was a rug on the varnished floor of the usual hard wood. A large writing desk, littered with papers, stood in the right-hand corner on the further side. There were few books. A print or two hung on the walls. A sideboard stood in the center, near the writing-table, and there were armchairs. It was a working-room; none of the coquetry nor luxury which some hard workers like to surround themselves with was visible. There was no lack of comfort, but comfort had not been the thing chiefly considered when the room had been furnished. The palace, as a whole, though on a large scale, with large rooms, and many of them, had no great splendor. The impression, as of other official residences which I afterward saw, was one of dignity; the appointments were sufficient, the rooms overloaded sometimes with ornament, but left rather bare of furniture."

Origin of the Cocktail.

Many theories have recently been advanced in the New York Sun as to the origin of the cocktail, but one has been omitted. A Toltec nobleman of Mexico once sent to his king by the hand of his beautiful daughter a decoction of pulque of his own invention. The king was as much delighted with the one as with the other. He drank the last and married the first. The name of the maiden was Xochithl, a designation ever after applied to the drink. When our troops under Gen. Scott invaded Mexico they took kindly to the beverage and corrupted its name into cocktail, by which name it has ever since been known by the world at large. Of this concoction we have invented so many forms that the United States has come to be considered its place of origin.

A Winter Bath in White River

WHAT CAME OF BREAKING THROUGH THE ICE IN A WISCONSIN RIVER IN FEBRUARY.

From the Chronicle, Chicago, Ill.

Five years ago last winter, there was considerable commotion on the banks of the White River, Wisconsin, as a young man named E. N. Halleck, had broken through the ice, and was for some moments lost to view. It was not long, however, before Mr. Halleck came in sight again, and by artistic means was fished from the fluid and restored to society. If the ducking had been all, it would have been well, but unfortunately, the young gentleman contracted a heavy cold, resulting in chronic rheumatism, complicated with disease of kidney and urinary organs.

"For six months," writes Mr. Halleck, "I was laid up, and not able to do anything. During this time I suffered with pains in the stomach and small of the back, and headache, urination was frequent and painful, my heart's action was increased, and I had aches all over my body, and was generally used up. Then I was able to go out, but was a confirmed invalid, and for nearly four years I was in that condition, and expected then that I should always be disabled for nothing that I took gave me any relief.

"In December, 1895, I read an advertisement about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and on speaking of it to Mrs. A. E. Derby, she strongly urged that I should take them, as she said she believed they would cure me. I had been under physicians' care for over two years, but as they did me no good I did not ask their advice about taking these pills, but laid in a supply and began to take them. In about ten days I began to experience substantial relief, and continued to take them for four months, by which time I was cured. The first benefit I obtained was a less frequent desire to urinate, and lessening of that dreadful pain in the back, which ceased altogether very soon. My stomach became comfortable, and my heart's action normal. After the first break my recovery was rapid, and to-day I flatter myself I am a sound man, and able to attend to my business better than I ever could before."
